

LEEDS

SENIOR CONSULTANTS/MANAGERS

Company

Our client is a privately owned, fast growing recruitment consultancy. The company is a main player in its market place and has won a number of accolades within its sector. The business is based in central London and the North of England.

The business is on a growth trajectory and central to this growth is the need to attract successful recruitment consultants.

Our client is currently looking for experienced consultants who are able to deliver the next phase of our strategy, develop relationships with our existing client base and forge new partnerships.

You could currently be working in a senior contract market or in the permanent contingent market and are looking for a step-up into your next role.
